

Antonia Navarro-Tejero, Ph.D. in English, has lived and lectured in the USA, India and Spain. She teaches English Literature at Universidad de Córdoba (Spain), where she also coordinates the Permanent Seminar on India Studies. Among other awards and recognitions, she was a 2004-2005 Fulbright scholar at University of California, Berkeley. Her research interests include Transnational Gender Studies, and Postcolonial Theory and Criticism with emphasis on

India and its diaspora. She is the author of the books Globalizing Dissent: Essays on Arundhati Roy (Routledge, 2009), Gender and Caste in the Anglophone-Indian Novels of Arundhati Roy and Githa Hariharan:

Feminist Issues in Cross-Cultural Perspectives (The Edwin Mellen Press, 2005), Talks on Feminism: Indian Women Activists Speak for Themselves (Sarup and Sons, 2008), among other publications. She has presented papers at conferences around the world on issues of subalternity, and is currently the Founder-President of the Spanish Association for Interdisciplinary India Studies.